SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 19, 1870. INCREASED RATE OF INTEREST

As it is generally conceded that few farms will pay six per cent, interest on their cost, an increase of the logal rate of interest would certainly tend to depreciate their price. The farmer needs money at a lower rate and not a higher one. The same is the case with most kinds of business. In nine cases out of ten not one will warrant the payment of a larger sum than six per cent. To increase the rate of interest will only add to the burden of the debtor class. Many cannot pay six per cent, and how are they to be benefitted by making seven or eight the legal rate we cannot understand. The borrowers in most of the States have difficulty in procuring money, and are no the times is more money and a lower rate of interest. — Delaware Republican.

It is not the borrowers who want a higher rate of interest, but the lenders. Six per cent. is as much as land will bear, and as much as merchants, traders and mechanics, can afford to pay. A higher rate of interest would produce more bankrupts will report a bill providing for the registhan we now have, for men's necessities tration of the colored vote of the State, as ence has proven that six per cent. is enough gress. for the tamporary use of money in a healthy trade; if more be given, it puts in joppar dy the solvency of the borrower, and interest the best of the control of the property of the solvency of the borrower, and interest to be satisfied, but like the horso-level's daughter circs. "give i give?" and the more you give, the more will the cry be head. The present regulation of siz per cent. we believe to be founded in wisdom and based upon the business experience of the commercial world. It is enough. More would be burtful, tending to make the rich richer, and the poor poore. Any new or regulation white heads of new, is not the best for the body politic. Where wealh is more generally difficult to be in the best for the body politic. Where wealh is more generally difficult to the best for the body politic. Where wealh is more generally difficult to the prime. The solution of prosperity and happiness. That community is best off where there are not many poor nor many rich, but where the great mass enjoy a moderate completence. Experience of the middle class, and therefore the size of interest it to built any and the prime offered, and it cannot be returned, when there are not many poor nor many rich, but where the great mass enjoy a moderate completence. Experience of the middle class, and therefore the communication of prosperity. The idea that money, like water, will seek it level—that it will go wherever the highest rates of interest at too high for a healthy state of trade. We conclude, therefore, that experience of mankind has fixed at air per cent.

THE PEACH INTEREST

The peach trade is likely to be batter understood through the medium of the several communications which have a pepared, and which are yet to appear in the columns of the orange per control of the column for the temporary use of money in a healthy trade; if more be given, it puts in jeopar-dy the solvency of the borrower, and in-creases the risk of all his creditors, and

To-day, we have another letter from New York, in the same interest, and a second letter from Mr. Samuel Townsend, in the interest of the process, to be followed by others, opening up to the public view some strange phases of the peach business. We are given to understand that the half has not yet been told of the tricks of the peach tricks of the peach tricks of the peach business. We are given to understand that the half has not yet been told of the tricks of the peach tricks of the told of the tricks of the peach trade, and the public may prepare for some interest-ing rovelations. Not only so, we understand that at the meeting which it is proposed to held in Middletown, on Saturday the 16th of April, it is expected that sertain prominent New York fruit dealers and shippers will be present to make some rovelations concerning the peach trade, which will open the eyes of peach growers, who would do well to be present at that meeting, and hear all that may be said upon a subject in which they are so deeply interested.

Notwithstanding that the late Edwin M. Stanton died leaving an estate of $75,000, and that he never occupied the seat on pointed but a few days before his decease congress has "generously" donated his destitute "family the sum of $6,000; a years salary of the office he never filled. What right has Congress to make any such appropriation? Instead of saving the money of a tax-ridden people, they seem to think themselves at liberty to spend it "as free as water," for every purpose under the sun; when, in strict purpose under the sun; when, in strict honesty and probity, they have no more right to touch a dollar of the public treas-ure, except for public purposes, than they have to filch from the pockets of any citizen they may meet upon Pennsylvania But Congress is no controlled by considerations of right; its own imperious will is the supreme law; it acknowledges no other.

MR. EDFOR:—Some person forwarded me the Rural New Yorker of the 28th of February. In it I see a communication signed "Now and then," speaking of the peach trade of Delaware, the farmers' claims for baskets, and their dishoniesty in general, with regard to the peach business. Now, sir, as a Delaware peach grower and farmers, I propose to say a few words in your paper, in reply to this sain of Washington Market, who sets himself up as an injured man. God a large the peach grower and farmers of these genery, at the commencement of the peach business, formed themselves into a close corporation, sent on their agents to Philadelphia and ruled the market, as there was no outlet then to New York, only by the Camden and Amboy I line. These men, who this "Now and Then" represents, brought on with them to Philadelphia what is known as the pony baskets, and for every business, brought on with them to Philadelphia what is known as the pony baskets, and for every business in Philadelphia, they would slick their small pony baskets on New York, as a basket of peaches. After the Del. Rail Road was made and the large orchards along it came into bearing, I determined to flank this combination of N. York hucksters, who controlled and monopolized the Philadelphia market. I went to see the companies owning the rail roads between here and Jorsey Gity, and never ceased my efforts. I got up meetings, and those meetings combined the Delaware peaches to Jersey Gity, and unknown to us you tried to assume guardianship over us, and signed your animes to a petition to the Camden and Amboy Co. saying it was the best route to bring peaches to Jersey Gity, and when we met the President of the C. & A. Go. (Who also was opposed seven the president showed us your petition, which they are also the provided the register of the C. & A. Go. (Who also was opposed for the president of the C. & A. R. R. to let me look at your petition, and I had lit copied and have your names to adopt the register of the president of the C. & A. R. R. to let me look at y and transfer all of the wholesale peach trade over there. Jeriey City being only a suburb of New York.

And for the information of all peach salesmen whom it may concern, I will inform them that in the course of a few days the Committee on Com-nisions and Sales will be in New York to ar-range this very matter, when notice will be given to you, so that any of you who see proper can meet us and give your views and receive the de-termination of the growers; and the names of all salesmen refusing, will be reported to the peach growers, at our next meeting, to be held at Do-ver, April 19th.

LIFE INSURANCE.

The failure of the Albert Life Insurance

The failure of the Albert Life Insurance Company last August, in England, with the twenty-four other offices it had absorbed, involving no less than £10,000,000, for which it scarcely had any assets, promises to lead to the passage of an act by the British Parliament which wil. protect the policy-holder.

The Life Assurance Companies' bill has passed its second reading before the House of Commons almost without opposition. Its principal features are deposit of £20,000, the publication of annual certified statements, and the right of the policy-holder to apply to the Court of Chancery for a winding up order, in the case the assets of any company appear to be insufficient.

The facts brought forward in the discussion of the bill show the enormous pro-

The facts brought forward in the dis-cussion of the bill show the enormous pro-portions which the life insurance business in England has assumed. Life policies are taken out to provide for children, to secure debts, and often to make marriage settlements, in a country where such settle-ments are common, when men are too poor to make them in any other way. Single men with little property, transfer it and receive annuities in its place. Wid-lows use these companies as saving banks. In a word, these companies become trus-tees for the most helpless part of the com-munity, and as this means a large propor-munity, and as this means a large propor-ows use these companies as saving banks. In a word, these companies become trustees for the most helpless part of the community, and as this means a large proportion of it, it is, after all, not surprising that the contracts entered into by the various British offices should amount to £400,009,000, or about $2,009,000,000, gold. Yet only 750,000 persons are insured in the British Islands out of a population not as large as our own. As life insurance is much more general here, it would not be at all astonishing to find that the contracts entered into by American companies amounted to £4,000,000,000.

We give these facts merely to show the extent of the interests involved by the dealings of these companies, and the importance of their character. Yet, hitherto there has been no law in England to give protection to the assured, or afford the public any means of knowing which companies were solvent and which rotten. Prior to 1824, but thirty-nine life assurance companies had been established in England. From 1824, owing to the removal of restrictions, they began to multiply. Up to 1808, 327 new companies were founded, of which only one hundred and twelve now renain. In other words, nearly two-thirds were absorbed, wound up, or went into bankruptcy, sweeping away the humble savings of many a poor policy holder. A life insurer is, unfortunately, singularly helpless in his dealings with the society to which he hands his premiums. He not only has no right to ask for information, but would not know how to get it, even if the privilege of obtaining it were accorded him. A company may be frittering its means away in reckless competition, in wasteful expenditure or in extravagant commissions. Yet the insurer reals no way of preventing the dissipation of funds which should accumulate for his protection and benefit. The plan proposed it were accorded him. A company may be frittering its means away in reckless competition, in wasteful expenditure or in extravagant commissions. Yet the insurer has no way of preventing the dissi the belaware peach growers who ship to Jersey City, do not intend to pay cartage on peaches sold in Jersey City. All that cannot be sold to advantage there, we are willing to pay for handly avert to the stands for real that the st. three-fourins of them were sold in Jersey City; and that amount at 4 cents per basket, would make $50,000, and then 10 per cent was charged on this amount as sales, when really it was only freight. That makes on the $50,000, $10,000, in all $60,000, robbed out of these "dishonest" Delaware farmers by the Saints of Washington Market and vivo one cent was charged on this amount as the solid to describe the solid to develop the solid to develop robbed out of these "dishonest" Delaware farmers by the Saints of Washington Market and vivo one cent, and the per cent commission, but all other matters relating to the peach business, we claim and intend to exercise the right of regulating as we please. HAYTI THREATENED.

Dispatches have been received at the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Poor, commanding the North Atlantic fleet, dated Cape Haytien, February 12. The U. S. steamers Severn and Dictator arrived at Port au Prince on the ninth of February, Admiral Poor had called upon the Provisional President, and after the usual exchange of courtesies acquainted him with the object of his visit to that port. The President summoned his enbinet and the Admiral explained the instructions he had received from his government, tions he had received from his government namely: That negotiations were pendin between the United States and San Domin go, and while they were pending this gov ernment had determined with its whol go, and while they were pending this government had determined with its whole power to prevent interference on the part of the Haytien or any other government with that of the Dominicans, and if any attempt should be made upon Dominicans during the negotiations under the Haytien or any other flag, it would be regarded as an act of hostility to the United States flag, and would provoke hostility in return.

The President and Secretary of State of Hayti then expressed the hope that the friendly relations now existing between Hayti and the United States would not be interrupted, and that while they were aware of their weakness they knew their rights, and would maintain them to the best of their ability, and that they must be allowed to be the judges of their own policy. Admiral Poor afterwards learned, unofficially, that the authorities were displeased with what they considered a menace on the part of the United States government, accompanied with force. Thus it is that our rapacity for new territory is getting us into be water with the ordy. our rapacity for new territory is getting us into hot water with the only independent nation in the world, except perhaps Mex-ico, which entertains a sincere regard for GOLD COINAGE.

The United States Mint, since 1792, has coined $946,000,000 in gold. Of this, $814,000,000 has been coined since 1850. In other words, in twenty years eight times as much gold was coined as during the sixty years previous. Of £320,000,000 of gold issued by the British mint since 1603, £115,000,000 have been coined since 1850. Since 1726 the French mint has coined 10,800,000 francs, 6,600,000 of which have been issued since 1850. Since 1964 Russia has francs, 6,600,000 of which have been issued since 1850. Since 1664 Russia has coined 626,000,000 roubles in gold, of which 300,000,000 have been issued since 1850.

This immense volume of coin naturally has its effect on prices. With increased supply, the purchasing power of gold necessarily decreases, and the prices of preduce and property must advance.

It seems rather curious that this enor mous enlargement of the volume of currency in the financial world should have increased rather than decreased the rate of interest. But the truth is, that the im interest. But the truth is, that the immense impetus given to active life by the delegraph, the railroad and the abundance of gold, has caused a much more general distribution of wealth, especially in mew countries, and the demand for money has kept ahead of the greatly increased supply. In America—until population increases, until the supply of labor exceeds the demand, and until the dormant wealth of the country is much more fully developed—money will continue to command a high rate, and, what is more, the demand here will affect the rate in the Old World.

Kent Railhoad.—The project of running trains on that portion of the Kent railgoad completed to Kennedyville, has, we are glad to learn, not been abandoned; and there is a prospect of a combination of the Kent and Queen Anne's Companies to lease the Townsend branch and jointly to run the road. It is greatly to be hoped that the arrangement may be effected. One drawback on the part of our road is the failure of so large a portion of the individual subscribers to the stock to pay their indebtedness. The number of suits for railroad subscriptions is very large, and the Company needs this money badly. It was not to be expected that our people would let this work languish for want of their own subscriptions. The Directors are doing every thing in their power to grush it shead, and unless the stockholders pay their indebtedness it hardly becomes them to play the part of grumblers. It is a fact that the engine now used in construction, belongs to the Directors individually.—Transcript.

A VALUABLE RECIPE FOR SCROFULA.—
Nicholas Longworth, the famous millionaire and wine-grower, of Cincinnati, publishes the following cure for Scrofula:—
"Put 2 oz. aqualottis on a plate on which you have two copper cents; let it remain 18 to 24 hours; then add 4 oz. clear strong vinegar; put cents and all in a large mouthed bottle, and keep it corked; begin by putting 4 drops in a teaspoonful of rain water and apply it to the sore; make the application three times a day with a soft hair pencil, or made of soft rags; if very painful, put more water; as the sore heals apply it wesker."
"I request editors in all parts of the Union and abroad to copy this, and to republish it quarter yearly. It may save many lives."
N. Longworth.
Cincinnati, Ohio, November 18, 1854.
"P. S.—Captain Markness, of our city publish it quarter yearly. It may save many lives." N. Lonowoktru. Cincinnati, Ohio, November 18, 1854.

"P. S.—Captain Markness, of our city (Cincinnati,) the first person cured by this remedy, applied it without water, and he informed me that he thought it would burn his leg off; but the next day it was cured. His was a small sore, and had been attended to for months by one of the best physicians without any benefit."

In addition to the above, it is said that the cases alluded to as cured by this recipe were very bad ones, and had long baffled the skill of various physicians.

tant cities, saving double freighinge and two or three commissions to producers, traders and consumers, and a Reliable House, Quick Sales, and Sure Returns.

His House is said to be most eligible, ample accommodations, airy, and finely adapted to the sale of Home Productions, and the preservation of perishable fruits.

As the Peach-World will be pressing, and the sale immense, it may be well that those who wish the services of this House should make previous engagements, as engagements will be many; and it is desired, so that they may be repeared for the market; and they will not sell the inferior productions without the good and the best.

TOBACCO & SEGARS!!

MIDDLETOWN, DEL. Nov. 18, 1869. The following dispatch has just been received om I. A. via Warwick. The author of it is uniown, but he is evidently some one who is "up snuff," and that he is fond of "puffing" there n be no doubt:

As round the town you poke, You wish to have a pleasant smoke; Take my advice, (this is no joke,) You'd better go to WINE'S

Or if you want to get a chew, Of sweet Black Fat or Honey Dew, You'll find it and good "Fine Cut" too, By dropping in at WINE'S.

His policy is, "to try to please,"
His Segars always smoke with case,
The Snuff is bound to make you sneeze
You get at WINE'S.

Take my advice without delay, (His place you know in on Main street) Invest your "stamps," it's sure to pay Both you and WENE. Let politicians plot and plan; Rule the people must and can; And you or any other man, Had better go to WINE'S.
